Logistics Project

2021

As a developer at NNR Global Logistics, my role encompasses the full spectrum of software development, from crafting intuitive front-end interfaces to architecting robust back-end systems. Collaborating closely with cross functional teams, I contribute to enhancing logistics operations by creating innovative solutions that streamline processes, boost efficiency, and elevate user experiences. Through my expertise in both front-end and back-end technologies, I help drive NNR Global Logistics towards its goals of delivering exceptional services in the dynamic logistics industry
